

Adoption Gave Me Life: A Pro-Life Memoir

I never thought I would be a mother. I grew up in a broken home, and I never wanted to put a child through what I had gone through. But then I met my husband, and everything changed. We talked about having children, and I started to think that maybe I could be a good mother after all.

We decided to adopt. We went through the process of home studies and background checks, and finally, we were matched with a birth mother who was due in a few months. We were so excited to meet our baby, and we couldn't wait to bring him home.

Our son was born on a cold winter day. He was a beautiful baby boy, and we were so happy to finally have him in our arms. We named him Ethan, and he quickly became the center of our world.

Ethan is now a happy and healthy 5-year-old boy. He loves to play with his toys, go to the park, and read books. He is also a very loving and affectionate child. He tells us every day how much he loves us, and he always gives us big hugs and kisses.

I am so grateful for the opportunity to be Ethan's mother. Adoption has given me a life that I never thought I could have. I am so blessed to have Ethan in my life, and I know that he will always be my son, no matter how he came to me.

If you are considering adoption, I urge you to do it. Adoption is a beautiful and rewarding experience. It is a way to give a child a loving home, and it is a way to grow your family in a special way.
