Architectural Masterpieces

Long Island boasts a remarkable collection of architectural masterpieces that reflect the region's diverse heritage and architectural styles. These edifices stand as testaments to the creativity and craftsmanship of past generations and continue to inspire awe in modern-day visitors.

Oheka Castle, Huntington

Nestled amidst the rolling hills of Huntington, Oheka Castle is a breathtaking chateau that evokes the grandeur of Europe's most opulent palaces. Built in 1919 by financier Otto Hermann Kahn, this 127-room mansion boasts a blend of French Renaissance and Tudor Revival styles, complete with intricate carvings, soaring ceilings, and elaborate gardens.

Sagamore Hill National Historic Site, Oyster Bay

Sagamore Hill

Perched on a hill overlooking Oyster Bay Harbor, Sagamore Hill was the summer home of President Theodore Roosevelt from 1885 until his death in 1919. This stately Victorian mansion exudes a sense of history and reflects Roosevelt's love of nature, family, and public service.

Vanderbilt Museum and Planetarium, Centerport

Overlooking the Long Island Sound, the Vanderbilt Museum and Planetarium is a stunning medieval-style castle built by William K. Vanderbilt II in the early 1900s. The museum houses an eclectic collection of art, artifacts, and natural specimens, while the planetarium offers captivating shows that explore the wonders of the universe.

Natural Wonders

Long Island's natural beauty is second to none, with an abundance of pristine beaches, tranquil parks, and verdant landscapes. These natural treasures provide respite from the hustle and bustle of city life and offer opportunities for relaxation, recreation, and exploration.

Jones Beach State Park, Wantagh

Jones Beach State Park

Stretching along the Atlantic Ocean, Jones Beach State Park is a beloved destination for sunseekers, swimmers, and surfers alike. Its six miles of pristine sand, clear blue waters, and ample amenities make it the perfect place to escape the summertime heat and enjoy a day by the shore.

Fire Island National Seashore, Fire Island

Fire Island National Seashore is a 26-mile-long barrier island that offers a tranquil retreat from the mainland. With its untouched beaches, rolling dunes, and abundant wildlife, the island provides opportunities for hiking, kayaking, fishing, and birdwatching.
