The novel is set in a time-travelling shelter, where people can go to relive their past or glimpse their future. The protagonist, Gaustín, is a man who has lost his wife and is struggling to come to terms with his grief. He decides to visit the shelter in search of a way to bring her back.

Gaustín's journey through the shelter is a surreal and disorienting experience. He encounters people from his past and future, and witnesses events that he never thought possible. As he delves deeper into the shelter, he begins to question his own sanity and the nature of reality.

Time Shelter is a beautifully written and thought-provoking novel that will stay with you long after you finish it. Gospodinov's prose is lyrical and evocative, and he creates a world that is both familiar and strange.

The novel is a meditation on the nature of time and memory, and on the ways in which we grieve and heal. It is a story about love, loss, and the search for meaning in life.
